Dear John,

It came to my attention today that an involuntary chapter 7 bankruptcy proceeding was filed against Tagnetics Inc. as early as March 2019 and is still pending in the Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of Ohio. I am extremely surprised and upset to learn such information, incidentally and only today and that you did not inform me of that circumstance while we were discussing together a term sheet of a potential partnership between our companies back at the same period. As you know, this term sheet was non-binding and subject to multiple conditions precedent, including conduct of due diligence, etc. which have not been met.

I further understand that Tagnetics has referenced to that such non-binding term in settlement discussions between Tagnetics and certain petitioning creditors in the bankruptcy case, and that Tagnetics may seek to introduce the term sheet or otherwise disclose its contents in that proceeding. I remind you that, in accordance with the Confidentiality provision set out therein, such term sheet is strictly confidential and, at this date, [REDACTED] does not consent in any way to the disclosure of the term sheet, the existence thereof, or the status of related discussions and negotiations.

John, I trust you will understand and comply with your confidentiality obligation set out in the Term Sheet. I remain available to discuss this matter with you.
